Section 6-25 Prohibited Signs and Sign Features

The following signs are prohibited:

- (i) General. The following signs, sign features, or attention getting devices are prohibited:
 - (1) Bullseye, divergent, sequential or flashing lights designed to focus attention to a single point.
 - (2) Spectacular signs, including signs utilizing flashing or intermittent lighting, with the exception of changeable message boards and/or electronic reader board signs showing time and/or temperature, or a single frame message displayed in any fifteen (15) second period. For an electronic message board to be used in a manner that would not cause its use to be prohibited, the sign must be used in the following manner:
 - a. Time, temperature, or single frame message must be displayed for a minimum five (5) seconds during any one (1) display;
 - b. A flashing single message (time, temperature, or single frame message) is always prohibited;
 - c. The method of transition between messages is at the option of the user, provided it may not flash once the message becomes visible on the message, and if other than a blank transition frame, the period of transition does not exceed three (3) seconds;
 - d. Time and temperature may be interchanged during the fifteen (15) second period, i.e. time may be displayed more than once during any single minute fifteen (15) second period, and temperature may be displayed more than once during any fifteen (15) second period provided that they are displayed for a minimum five (5) seconds during any one (1) display; and,
 - e. A single frame message (other than time or temperature) may be displayed only once during any fifteen (15) second period, and must be displayed for a minimum five (5) seconds during any one (1) display.
